

Outside - the Pegasus Pasture

BUTCH

Hey, [NAME]! Welcome to Pegasus Flying. My name is Butch Walker and I'm a son of Iris. You made a great choice in coming out here! Flying with pegasi is one of the best things you can do at camp. You're going to be training with Yuki Tsugawa. He's a second-year camper, but this is his first time with the pegasi too.

Yuki waves.

BUTCH

As you can see, all the pegasi are out in the field behind me. Why don't you try walking out towards them and pick one to fly with?

[You then direct the player character forward toward any of the pegasi.]

BUTCH

Great! Now that you've chosen a pegasus, you'll want to try climbing on their back. Take it nice and slow.

[On-screen instructions explain how to mount the pegasus.]

BUTCH

Before I explain how to get airborne, let me tell you how we're going to train in the sky. Flying itself is pretty simple; you just need to lean on your pegasus in whichever direction you want to go.

[On-screen instructions explain how to direct the pegasus once in the sky.]

BUTCH

Once you're up there, you'll notice a series of glowing rings in the air. Those are compliments of the Hecate campers; just a little bit of temporary witchcraft to help with training. Try directing your pegasus to fly through the glowing rings in order, and then return to the ground here.

And don't worry; if you happen to fall off while flying, I'll be following along after you on my own pegasus and I'll catch you.

Now in order to get your pegasus to take off, give them a quick heel in the flank and shout "yah!"

[On-screen instructions explain how to do this.]

BUTCH

On your mark, get set, go!

[There follows a mini game in which you fly your Pegasus through the glowing rings in the sky using the aforementioned controls. If you try to turn too sharply in midair, you will tumble off your Pegasus and Butch will have to catch you and put you back on your mount. Once you've passed through all the glowing rings, you return to the ground and dialogue is exchanged.]

BUTCH
(if you did well)
That was amazing, [NAME]! You're a natural!

BUTCH
(if you fell off multiple times)
Ok, that was a good start. But try turning less sharply and maybe hold on a little harder.

BUTCH
Ok, let's try again, what do you say?
And let's make it a little more interesting this time. I'm going to have you two race each other through the hoops and back to the ground. May the best rider win! Everybody ready?
On your mark, get set, go!

[There follows a continuation of the mini game in which you fly your Pegasus through the glowing rings in the sky using the aforementioned controls, racing the other player. You will still fall off if you turn too sharply. This time, if you fly too closely to the other player, you are able to knock them off. Once you've passed through all the glowing rings, you return to the ground and dialogue is exchanged.]

BUTCH
(if you won)
Congratulations, [NAME]! Well flown!

BUTCH
(if you lost)
Congratulations, Yuki! Well flown!

BUTCH
Alright, good flying all around, you two. Now, it's just about time for our beach bonfire. You guys should head down to the beach to meet Chiron. And don't forget to stop by and say hi to your pegasi from time to time!
